

LEweek
2015

Better Policies, Better Lives: Evidence based policies

Tuesday 1 December

Middlesex University London

Morning session (room H116)

---

09.30 to 11.00      Invited talk (Chair: Prof. Pablo Branas-Garza, Middlesex)

- Prof. Orazio Attanasio (University College London): Evidence-based policies

11.00 to 11.30      Coffee/tea break

11.30 to 12.30      Session 1: Interventions (Chair: Dr. Ericka Rascon, Middlesex)

- Jason T. Kerwin (University of Minnesota): Making the Grade: Understanding What Works for Teaching Literacy in Rural Uganda
- Charles Yaw Okyere (University of Bonn): The Impacts of Household Water Quality on Safe Water Behaviors: A Randomized Experiment in Ghana

12.30 to 13.30      Lunch

Afternoon session (room W150)

---

13.30 to 14:30      Session 2: Experiments (Chair: Prof. Praveen Kujal Middlesex)

- Behnud Mir Djawadi (University of Paderborn): Tailored Financial Incentives to Fight Medical Non-Persistence in Therapeutic Treatment: A Behavioral Economic Engineering Approach
- Katherina Werner (University of Passau): Emotional Numbing and Lessons Learned after a Violent Conflict – Experimental evidence from Ambon, Indonesia
- Anna Lou Abatayo (University of Copenhagen): Endogenous vs. Exogenous Regulations in the Commons

14.30 to 14:45      Break

14.45 to 15.45      Session 3: Interventions II (Chair: Dr. Ericka Rascon, Middlesex)

- Matteo M. Galizzi (London School of Economics): Because I'm Worth It: a Lab-Field Experiment on the Spillover Effects of Incentives in Health
- Yiling Lin (Queen Mary University of London): The Difference between True Preference and Nudged Preference